Tom Sheehan: Bio

John Schoenberger, Adult Album Alternative editor of Radio & Records, put it best: “Tom Sheehan is an artist that you need to know about.”

Songwriter Tom Sheehan is to popular music what director Oliver Stone is to film. Tom's evocative songs find their roots in the news, human relationships and the world around us. His writing is emotional and insightful, casting new light on familiar events, people and issues. And while certainly not the first to fuse social commentary with rock music, Tom does so from a unique perspective—an insightful point of view tempered by experience.

His 1998 debut record, Where You Are, spawned two Adult Album Alternative (AAA) and college radio hits, Die Like Elvis, an infectious Memphis-blues rocker, and the ethereal title track, which grew out of the O.J. Simpson murder trial.

Not surprisingly, Tom's new 19 North Records release, Film at Eleven, is not your typical pop music fare with songs that address important issues, as FMQB says, “without mincing any words.”

The trade press has heaped critical praise on Film at Eleven. Dave Einstein, writing in Gavin, says, “Sheehan's cinematic approach to the music is what makes it [Film at Eleven] stand out. Each song is like a screenplay...well-crafted...melodic.” Album Network says “Just like the nightly news, Tom Sheehan delivers the lies, the absurdities and the straight-up truths.” And Friday Morning Quarterback says, “Sheehan's greatest gift is his ability to write without mincing any words.”

At AAA and Major College Radio, Film at Eleven has gained fast acceptance along side new releases by such industry heavyweights as The Wallflowers, U2, Mark Knopfler, Paul Simon and Lenny Kravitz with over 120 (and counting) AAA and Major College radio stations playing the album.

Live, on his Solo Acoustic Tour, Tom Sheehan presents an intimate experience of the songs on Where You Are and Film at Eleven with solo acoustic performances that are in many ways even more powerful than the studio versions—stripped down treatments that bring his insightful, and often chilling, lyrics to the forefront.

He is most at home, though, as a writer...an artist with a gifted vision...and a unique view of the world...an artist that you need to know about.
